JULY 2018

CAESARSTONE INTRODUCES THE METROPOLITAN COLLECTION

Caesarstone leads the industrial trend with its new Metropolitan collection, a range inspired by the rough touch and unpolished colours, textures and patinas found in industrial architecture.

“Caesarstone's new Metropolitan collection rethinks the brutalism of concrete incorporating textural effects, aged patinas, and oxidized accents for the first time ever in quartz surfaces using innovative proprietary technology.

The result is an urban look of concrete with a more experimental, refined and romantic expression.

The new 2018 colours are created with the view towards the upcoming trends and our vision of consistently meeting and anticipating different interior design schemes and palates.

They represent our steadily evolving journey as leaders in premium surfaces” says Eli Feiglin, VP of marketing at Caesarstone.

Robust construction finishes have become a popular choice amongst urban consumers, inspired by factories and lofts, and translated into residential and commercial interiors. Each sturdy surface in the Collection has been designed to reflect the authentic textures of manufacturing, such as oxidized steel, poured plaster and raw concrete.

By innovating cutting-edge technology exclusive to Caesarstone, weathered patinas have been achieved in quartz for the very first time – a breakthrough that one can literally feel and experience.

These intriguing materials are organic, capturing real depth and movement; therefore, an engaging visual impact is embedded within each of the Metropolitan Collection's colours making them inspiring in kitchens, surprising in bathrooms and striking in hospitality.

The variations in appearance capture real depth and movement, revealing different qualities that make our Metropolitan Collection unique.
